To whom it may concern,

It gives me enormous pleasure to write this letter of recommendation for Jasmine Nguyen, who I worked with from May 2025 to May 2026, where she was the lead Frontend Developer for both NexStox and NXMarket, where she was responsible for building the entire visual presentation of the platforms, the trading interface, staking modules, administration functions, and much, much more.

For a long time, Jasmine worked as the only frontend developer, and for one person to run an entire department entirely on her own is beyond impressive and she always had the ‘whatever it takes’ mentality to bring something to production on time with a deadline in mind with feedback sought all the way.

She was initially referred by our DevOps engineer who had worked with her before and sought to bring her to the new company with his vote of confidence. When I started working with her, I could see why he had such faith in her. She is attentive to detail, her work ethic is unrivaled, and her attitude is based purely around output with a clear goal-orientation.

There were a number of times she would continue beyond the working day, collaborating closely with our QA department on platform testing, frontend accuracy of data, and off course, market acceptance to ensure market readiness and proper user experience were core priorities in everything she developed during her time with us.

I can say with confidence that very few developers are capable of taking on her workload, but when she is given the responsibility she rises to the occasion.

On a personal level, she is kind, diligent, hardworking, and enormously capable. While the company was forced to downsize in April 2026, I am incredibly proud of Jasmine, her development over her time with the company, and I am fully confident that she is capable of working as a lead frontend developer for any company that is lucky enough to work with her.

If you have any further questions or if you would prefer a more in-depth discussion on Tailor and his capabilities, I would be more than happy to do so. I can be contacted via email at cathal@nexstox.com and I will be happy to schedule a time via my Google Calendar, which can be found here.

Sincerely,

Cathal Donnellan
